Washington, D. C.—Strikes and lockouts now are costing workers nearly $1,000,000 daily in wages lost, it was estimated here Tuesday, on the basis of reports to the labor department which indicate that at least 100,000 men and women are unwilling to work pending the regular May negotiations with their employers over new wage scales. Employers' losses were placed at approximately four times those of workers.

Secretary of Labor Davis and his twenty mediators on duty in big cities are working day and night in an effort to save industry approximately $5,000,000 a day. Confronted by three major strikes simultaneously, Davis is holding conferences with groups of workers and employers almost continuously.

Leaders of the marine engineers and seamen who quit work Sunday midnight were to see Davis early Tuesday afternoon after conferences with him all Monday afternoon.

Later in the day Davis expected to get reports on the strikes of printers in fifty cities and on the walkout of paper mill workers. In these last two strikes, Davis has not yet been asked to mediate. But he is keeping informed of the situation to be ready if the request for arbitration should come to the department.

Seamen are obstinate
New York.—The nation-wide seamen's strike went into its third day with the general situation as follows: Representatives of the International Seamen's union met in Washington to confer with Secretary Davis at his request that they discuss mediation.

The American Steamship Owners' association in reply to Secretary Hoover's suggestion for mediation by a commission of three private citizens, intimated it preferred to settle the dispute itself.

Both the owners and the United States shipping board reiterated that acceptance of the 15 per cent wage reduction must precede any negotiation. That is the crux of the strike and seamen steadfastly refuse to consider it.

Seamen's representatives prepared to meet the towing company workers officials to urge a sympathetic strike that would tie up all harbor operations after the conference scheduled for last night was postponed. Owners and seamen continued widely at variance on their estimates of men and ships affected, the former contending that only a few hundred men and a "handful" of ships were involved while the men maintained that practically the entire 175,000 union membership had responded and that virtually all merchant craft now in port were helpless.

Engage Strike Breakers
Chicago.—The strike of 900 stock handlers in packing town failed to slow down meat production Tuesday, officials of the packing companies claimed.

Men have been hired to take the place of the strikers who quit work when an eight cent an hour wage reduction was announced, they claimed.

All Stand Fast
Chicago.—Both employees and contractors stood firm Tuesday in the fight resulting when building trades employees were locked out.

The lockout took place when members of the building trades unions refused to accept a slash in wages. Con-$36,000,000.

Printers Claim Victory
Indianapolis, Ind.—John McPartland, president of the International Typographical union, predicted Tuesday that the printers' strike will end soon with concessions from the employers granting the demand for a 44 hour week.

Only about 2,000 of the union's membership of 35,000 are on strike, McPartland said, the employers having met the demands in all other cases. The employers of the 2,000 strikers are giving way, McPartland said and the walkout will be over within a few days.

"BOND INTOXICATION"
PLEA FOR YOUNG ROBBER

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Aquit of Willie Dalton, 17-year-old boy who walked from the Northern Trust company with $772,000 worth of liberty bonds, was asked Tuesday on the grounds of "bond intoxication."

His attorney, Thomas Nash, in making the closing argument for the defense said:

"This boy should go free. He suffered from bond intoxication. He only made $2 a day and handled millions of dollars in bonds. The bonds made his head spin and then he was not responsible."

The jury is to decide about "bond intoxication" late Tuesday.

Hundreds of officers were in the line of march.

NEW TARIFF LAW WILL COME AHEAD OF TAX REVISION

Congressional Leaders Certain That Sales Tax Law Cannot Be Enacted.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Business men will not know until the latter part of this year what their federal taxes for 1921 will be.

Although this uncertainty is one of the factors of the business depression, it was definitely determined Tuesday that notwithstanding Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's letter, congress will adhere to its "tariff first" program with taxation revision to follow.

Representative Nichols Longworth, Ohio, Republican leader of the movement to reform taxes first, in order to speed business stabilization, admitted that he has lost. However, Longworth urged business interests to "discount the delay" and to begin to proceed immediately upon assumption that applicable to 1921 business the excess profits tax will be repealed and other tax throlies on business modified.

Other developments of the taxation program Tuesday were:

- 1—Increased belief that the sales tax is "dead before it starts."
- 2—Plans for a hard fight to repeal the transportation taxes despite Secretary Mellon's statement that it "cannot be repealed with safety."
- 3—Growing opinion among leaders that the Mellon plan of increasing income taxes on small businesses, and reducing high surtaxes will go through.

"Secretary Mellon's letter was the final nail in the coffin of the sales tax," said Longworth.

"After the president's expression clearly unfavorable to it and Mellon's refusal to recommend it, it might as well be buried now."

LAD SUES TEACHER FOR RUINING REPUTATION

By United Press Leased Wire
Manitowish, Wis.—Suit for $5,000 damages has been instituted in the town of Kassuth, by Michael Baumann, Jr., 15-year-old schoolboy, through his father, against Mrs. Viola West, his school teacher, and a former school board member of the town. He charges that his character has been defamed and a stigma attached to his good name, because of remarks made about him by the teacher. According to the complaint, the boy was charged by the teacher with taking some of her personal belongings and burning them in the schoolroom stove. It is alleged the complaint was taken to the school board by the teacher and the boy put through a "third degree" by the board.

SUPREME COURT RULES IN FAVOR OF AUTO COMPANY

Appleton Stockholders in Four Wheel Drive Company Win
Court Battle.

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—The supreme court Tuesday dismissed the appeal of the former stockholders of the Four Wheel Drive Auto company of Clintonville, Ohio, Republican leader of the movement to reform taxes first, in order to speed business stabilization, admitted that he has lost. However, Longworth urged business interests to "discount the delay" and to begin to proceed immediately upon assumption that applicable to 1921 business the excess profits tax will be repealed and other tax throlies on business modified.

The supreme court passed upon a motion and required by its decision that each of the former stockholders sue individually and not collectively.

R. P. Rohloff, J. J. Henderson, August Gruetzmaacher, Thomas J. Mahon, W. D. Stevens and August Kratzke were the plaintiffs and appellants in the suit directed against Charles I. Folkman, Frank Gause, Charles Hagdon, Walter Olson, Anton Kuckuk, A. W. Priest, W. A. Holt and Joseph D. Cotton, all stockholders at this time.

The former stockholders alleged the present officers and stockholders concealed from them the knowledge that the Four Wheel Drive Auto Co. was to become a "war baby" and thereby consummated the sale at par.

The supreme court failed to pass upon the constitutionality of the taxation of stock dividends in handing down a decision in the case of Adolph E. Blues, versus Frank O. Phelps as county clerk.

Blues listed a stock dividend of $22,000 par value paid by the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company. The dividend was taxed as income. The court held that Blues failed to file a protest in time with the tax commission and was now without remedy in law.

BLAINE HASN'T MUCH USE FOR NEWSPAPERS

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—The newspaper is the stumbling block in the way of the advance of civilization, Governor J. Blaine told a Madison church audience here Monday night.

"The one great barrier to the social and economic movement today is the means of conveying intelligence to the people," the governor said. "The newspaper is the only alternative to the human voice."

Governor Blaine said the press of civil war days was as "independent as a new born babe." Today almost 100 per cent of the press is controlled by the "interests."

"The ownership of the press in Wisconsin is largely vested in absentee landlords," the governor said. "You can't rely on anything you read in the newspapers of today," was the governor's conclusion in relating newspaper stories of last week relative to a threatened "May day revolution."

FOREIGN DEBT HAS NO BEARING ON REPARATION

America Doesn't Care Where Allies Get Money With Which to Pay Bills.

MAKING SLOW PROGRESS
Allies Showing Disposition to Abide by Treaty in Fixing Indemnities.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1921, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington.—The United States government considers the allied debt of ten billion dollars a just obligation of the allies and deems unacceptable the suggestion made by Germany that she take it over as part payment of reparations to France, Great Britain, Italy and Belgium.

This attitude on the part of the American government may be formally expressed if the United States ever transmits the recent German reparation proposal to the allies as a basis for discussion, but inasmuch as such a step is for the moment unlikely the chances are that America will avoid formal comment on the German proposition as it affects our foreign loans.

While the Washington government is vitally interested in the outcome of the reparation negotiations because of the far-reaching effects that a settlement would have on the world's economic situation, the official viewpoint here is that the allies will be well able ultimately to pay their debts to the United States irrespective of the reparation money forthcoming from Germany to the allies. It is realized that a satisfactory settlement of the reparation controversy would assist the allies and strengthen their financial power to pay the United States, but there is no disposition to regard the reparation situation as affecting the payment of the allies' debt to the United States. The government here regards the debt as something between the United States and the allies and as in no way dependent upon what sources of revenue the allies may develop for the payment of any of their debts, external or internal.

It became known today, incidentally, that former Premier Viviani on his recent trip to the United States took occasion to advise the American government that France considers her debt a just obligation and that she had every expectation of paying it at the earliest possible moment.

The British government has similarly expressed itself in informal discussion. There have indeed been no suggestions official or unofficial, except that from Germany, since the Harding administration came into power looking toward the cancellation or discounting of any of the foreign debts growing out of the war. Negotiations are about to begin with Great Britain for the funding of the interest and principal in such a way as will enable Great Britain to distribute her annual payments to the satisfaction of the United States. Although the British cannot pay much either interest or principal for the next few years, our government is just as well pleased because any huge shipment of gold would tend to unbalance international exchange and weaken the power of Europeans to buy American products. As exchange gets straightened out, more payments will come into the treasury from abroad but the public can hardly expect the advances from the allies to be of sufficient size during the next few years to alter the American income tax rate. The next generation alone will benefit from the allied payments though it is quite possible the treasury will some day issue securities based upon the British and

By United Press Leased Wire
Paris.—Premier Briand won British consent to military action in Germany only after a sharp challenge, according to reports here Tuesday from the supreme council.

Premier Lloyd George yielded to the plan of French mobilization pending Germany's answer to the last ultimatum when Briand declared mobilization would be ordered whether the British consented or not.

Lloyd George and Count Storza, Italian representative, hesitated a moment then nodded an unenthusiastic consent.

It was believed here, however, that Great Britain will support any military movement deemed necessary.

The French press Tuesday appeared concerned over the possibility that the entente is weakening in its attitude towards Germany. Several papers warned Premier Briand that he faces a defeat when parliament convenes May 15 if Germany has not yielded before then.

London correspondents of Paris newspapers, supposedly close to the French delegation, stressed the declaration that Lloyd George expects the United States to intervene before actual invasion of Germany begins.

President Deplores Practice of

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—President Harding Tuesday notified all members of his cabinet that they must keep their expenditures within the amount appropriated by congress for their departments.

In a letter sent to each secretary, Harding deplored the "dangerous tendency" of government departments to exceed the amounts congress had allowed them and then put in requests for more money.

The letter was written by the president following a letter he had received from Senator Warren, Wyoming, chairman of the senate appropriations committee calling attention to the fact that requests for extra appropriations now before congress totalled $216,000,000.

"I am in receipt of a letter from Chairman Warren, of the senate committee on appropriations calling my attention to the fact that estimates before congress call for approximately $216,000,000 deficiency appropriations and the estimated deficiencies will run very much beyond that sum. I do not know of any more dangerous tendency in the administration of government departments and I am very sure we can never fix ourselves firmly on a basis of economy until the departments are conducted within the provisions made by congress."

"I wish you would call this matter to the attention of the various bureau chiefs so that a like situation will not be repeated in the future."

NINE LOSE LIVES AS BOAT BURNS AT SEA

By United Press Leased Wire
Seattle, Wash.—Nine persons were missing and one was dead Tuesday, following the sinking of the Japanese steamer Toki Maru, 45 miles off the mouth of the Columbia river.

Sixty-five survivors were picked up by the transport Buford.

The vessel caught fire and was abandoned by the 70 members of the crew and 5 passengers before the Buford arrived.

When the Buford started picking the survivors from life boats many were suffering severely from exposure. The fire started at 4 p. m. Monday and spread rapidly through the cargo of lumber. The deck became so hot that it scorched the feet of those fighting the blaze and several were forced to jump overboard.

A short time after the lifeboats shoved off the vessel capsized and sank. It was 400 feet long and was built in Japan in 1920.

LATEST OFFER NO GOOD, U. S. INFORMS BERLIN

Secretary Hughes Refuses to

FRENCH TROOPS ON MOVE
Complete Plans for Blockading
German Ports to Force
Payment of Fine.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C.—Germany will be forced to yield completely to the allied demands for reparations and probably will pay as a subject nation, it was believed here Tuesday, as the result of Secretary of State Hughes' action in withdrawing the United States from an active part in the reparations crisis.

As Marshal Foch is preparing the French armies for an advance into the rich Ruhr region of Germany if that country again refuses to yield, and the allied supreme council is making ready to dispatch an ultimatum to Berlin demanding payment of 132,000,000,000 gold marks and a 20 per cent tax on her exports, Hughes' latest note to the German government will be delivered Tuesday to Foreign Minister Simons.

Secretary Hughes' note, dispatched late last night under dramatic circumstances, states that this government "finds itself unable to reach the conclusion that the proposals (recently made by Germany through the United States) afford a basis for discussion acceptable to the allied governments and that these proposals cannot be entertained."

"This government, therefore," the note concludes, "again expressing its earnest desire for a prompt settlement of this vital question strongly urges the German government at once to make directly to the allied powers proposals which would in all respects meet its just obligations."

Hughes' note caused complete surprise in Washington Tuesday, the most common comment heard being that the secretary had allowed the leadership in settlement of the reparations question to slip from his hand.

Start Toward Rhine

Paris.—French troops swept toward the Rhine Tuesday.

The fervor of 1914 was reawakened as soldiers gathered everywhere for transportation to the German border under the new mobilization orders, ready for a quick dash into the Ruhr valley.

The class of 1919 was called up and 130,000 troops were inducted into the service. The only provinces not contributing were the devastated regions.

A force of mining engineers was formed at Mayence. A division of cavalry under General Simon will meet them at Dusseldorf to escort them into the Ruhr.

The armies of occupation are mobbing under the command of General Degoutie, commanding the Dusseldorf area.

France is prepared also for naval action.

Blockade Ports

Vice-Admiral Sagot Duvivroux will command the French blockading forces unless the British participate, when one of their officers will be assigned command.

A naval mobilization order is expected to follow a conference in London Tuesday between Admiral Graese and Premier Briand.

The Germans are believed to have 7,500 soldiers in the Ruhr who probably will withdraw before a French advance. A strong cavalry force will be sent in with the engineers, however, in view of the reports that German mine owners are planning to provoke labor troubles which they can charge to the French. Cavalry officers were prepared for clashes if the miners carry out their alleged plans.

Prepare Final Note

London.—The supreme council went into session at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday to complete its final ultimatum to the Germans.

The British believed Germany will yield at least to the allied reparations terms.

Premier Briand of France, clung to his hope that the allies will support fully his planned invasion of German soil.

Briand appeared agitated. Reports from France were said to have been that the people were disappointed that he had yielded to Lloyd George in consenting to delay invasion until another note had been sent. He hoped to return to Paris tonight and assume personal charge of the military preparations before he is called before the chamber for questioning.

The Daily Chronicle, close to the government, declared flatly Tuesday that the allies had agreed to give Germany twelve days from the time the ultimatum is delivered in which to accept or reject the terms. The ultimatum goes forward Tuesday or Wednesday which would make the time of expiration May 15 or 16.

STILLMAN QUILTS AS PRESIDENT OF BIG GOTHAM BANK

Demands Acceptance of Resignation.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—On the eve of resumption of the secret hearings in the Stillman divorce case, James E. Stillman resigned late Tuesday as president of the National City bank, the biggest financial institution in the country. The resignation was immediately accepted.

Shortly after his suit for divorce first became public, Stillman tendered his resignation. It was unanimously refused by the directors, but at Tuesday's meeting he again proffered his resignation and insisted upon its acceptance.

The hearings will be resumed here Wednesday before Referee Gleason. Stillman is supposed to be enroute to Southampton, N. Y., on his yacht Modesty.

Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City company, has been elected to succeed him. It was stated after the meeting of the board of directors Tuesday the following statement was issued:

"At the regular weekly meeting of the board of the National City bank Tuesday, James A. Stillman again presented his resignation as president, and insisted upon its immediate acceptance."

"The directors accordingly accepted Mr. Stillman's resignation and elected Mr. Swenson, Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City company."

"At the same time, E. P. Swenson was elected chairman of the board. Mr. Swenson, John A. Garver and Percy A. Rockefeller were appointed additional members of the executive committee."

"Mr. Mitchell will retain his position as president of the National City company."

RED CROSS TO HOLD NURSING CLASSES

Chicago Organizer Is Helping County Chapter to Start
Series of Classes.

Miss Mildora Welch, Chicago, Red Cross educational director for the central division, is in the city assisting the health committee of the Outagamie Red Cross chapter to organize classes in home nursing and care of the sick, in line with a program of activity recently mapped out by the board of directors.

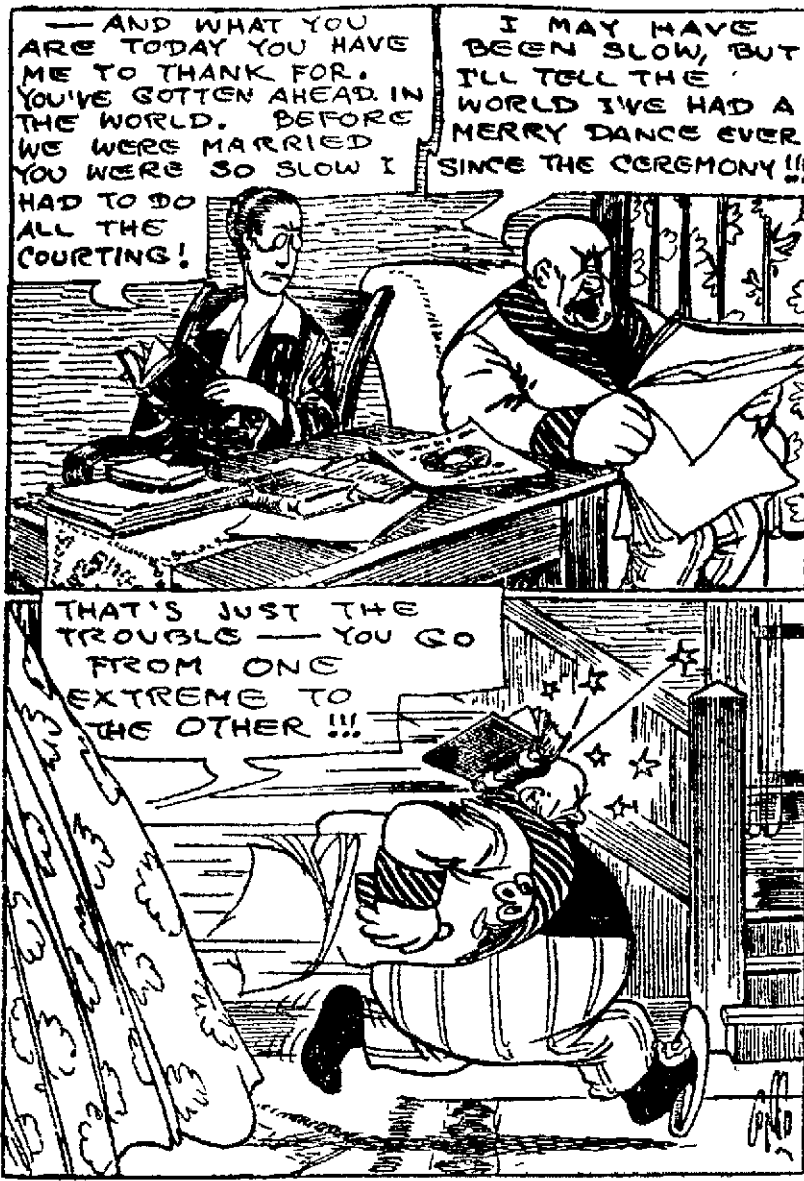

Each class is to take up a course of 15 lessons averaging about one and a half hours to the instruction period. A full time instructor has been engaged by the Red Cross to conduct classes in six different communities during the two months required to complete work. Half of each class hour is devoted to the lesson and the other half to demonstration.

Nearly every woman at some time in her life is obliged to act in the capacity of a nurse to members of her family or others. The course planned by the Red Cross teaches not only what to do in a situation of this kind, but shows what to do to keep well. The plan of instruction has been developed carefully to include an elementary knowledge of personal hygiene, care of the sick, household sanitation and prevention of contagious and minor illnesses. Special emphasis is placed on care of sick children. The course does not replace the services of a physician but teaches the importance of calling a physician for early diagnosis. A Red Cross certificate is awarded when the course is completed.

In developing this work on a large scale Appleton is joining a movement that is proving valuable in many other chapters in central division of the Red Cross. About 5,000 women are enrolled in more than 200 classes. These include mothers, grandmothers, clerks, factory workers, high school and college girls. Better cooperation with existing health agencies has resulted in other communities where this course has been given.

WANTS PUBLICITY FOR SILLMAN CASE

By United Press Leased Wire
New York.—Mrs. James A. Stillman may move through her attorney for a public trial when the secret hearings of her husband's divorce suit are resumed Wednesday, it was learned from an authoritative source Tuesday.

According to her friends Mrs. Stillman, in addition to resenting the publicity received by her husband's charges despite the "secrecy" of previous hearings, she has a strong case both in refutation of his allegations and in support of her counter charges and is desirous of going into open court to win publicity.

Either side may obtain a public hearing, even a jury trial, by expressing such a desire.

The secret hearings will be held at the quarters of the bar association of the city of New York before Daniel J. Gleason of Poughkeepsie, as referee.

ASK DISMISSAL OF MINER INDICTMENTS

By United Press Leased Wire
Indianapolis, Ind.—Counsel for the 226 coal mine operators officials of the United Mine Workers and coal dealers appeared in federal district court here Tuesday and filed formal motion to quash the indictments which charge the defendants with violating the Sherman anti-trust law and conspiracy to violate the Sherman act. The motion was filed when the defendants were arraigned before Judge Ferdinand Geiger of Milwaukee, sitting during the illness of Judge A. B. Anderson.

Court adjourned until 2 o'clock to give District Attorney Frederick Van Nuy and L. Ert Slack, special assistant attorney general, time to check over the list of defendants and see if all were represented at the arraignment.

Trial will be delayed until Judge Anderson recovers sufficiently to resume the bench. According to Slack and Van Nuy, the trial will not come until late in the fall.

AFFINITY OF SLAIN DOCTOR IS MISSING

Wife's Insistence That Husband
Give Up "Other Girl" Leads to Tragedy.

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago.—Mrs. Thomas Rowland was in court Tuesday for preliminary hearings on the charge of murdering her husband, prominent Chicago dentist.

The case was continued until Thursday on the motion of the state pending the coroner's inquest which will end Wednesday.

Mrs. Rowland, who was hysterical for hours after her arrest Monday, was calm Tuesday.

During her brief session in court, she kept her eyes lowered. The woman will probably be released on bond of $10,000.

Chicago—Irene Malloy, the "new love for old" in the Dr. Thomas J. Rowland murder case, was missing Tuesday.

The pretty office assistant of the doctor who was slain by his wife Monday was sought by her mother, Mrs. James Malloy.

Police rushed to the apartment of Dr. Rowland, $35,000 a year specialist, when cries of his wife were heard. The doctor was found on the floor shot and the wife barricaded in a room.

Attorneys for Mrs. Rowland said Tuesday that her defense would be "accidental shooting."

The story of the doctor's infatuation for Irene Malloy was brought to light by the tragedy.

This is the story of the girl's mother:

"Irene was a pretty 16-year-old girl and a good girl when she started to work for him three years ago. I first became suspicious when Irene came home and told me the doctor gave her a dollar tip for every $100 he took in. 'It wasn't her fault. We were poor. He offered her everything, trips to Honolulu, fine clothes, diamond rings, everything that every girl yearns for. I told him he was ruining my daughter. He wouldn't listen to me. 'Finally I went to Mrs. Rowland and asked her to influence her husband to stop playing with my daughter. 'Then Irene left home—I haven't seen her since."

It is the police theory that demands of Mrs. Rowland upon the doctor to give up the girl caused the quarrel which ended with a shot.

SPRING PAGEANT IS HUGE SUCCESS

"The Shut-Up-Posy," a spring pageant of songs, dialogues and dances, was presented at Lawrence Memorial chapel Monday evening by 125 pupils of Columbus school in a manner that reflected credit on the children and their teachers, who were assisted by Miss Irene Bidwell, instructor of music in the Second school district.

The performance was attended by over 1,000 relatives and friends of the pupils. The costumes were pretty and the stage effects were appropriate, representing a woodland scene at early dawn. The songs rendered by the various groups and pretty dances were among the most entertaining features of the performance. The children taking the part of Mother Earth, Angel of the Wild things, Dutch Boy, Viollets, For-get-me-not, and Jack-in-the-pulpit were especially good.

CONTINUE PROBE OF GIRL'S DEATH

Policeman Tells Story of Life in Hollywood's "Honey-moon Bungalow."

Los Angeles, Calif.—Official inquiry into the mysterious death of Marie Vance, pretty Glencoe, Ill. girl was started Tuesday by District Attorney Woolwine.

The prosecutor gave his attention to the strange case after he had been notified by Coroner Hoffman, of Chicago that an autopsy showed the girl had been killed by nicotine poison.

Miss Vance, the daughter of a prominent dentist, died here April 5. The death certificate which was issued gave the cause of death as pneumonia. The body was shipped back to Chicago in a sealed casket. Request for a probe after the girl was buried led to an autopsy in which it was found there was enough nicotine poison in the girl's system to kill five persons.

Captain R. Lee Heath, university police station, Tuesday told authorities what he knew of the life of Miss Vance in the "honey-moon bungalow" in Hollywood. Captain Heath stated that Robert S. Lockhart, Cornington, Va., planner, had purchased the bungalow for the girl.

Captain Heath's report included an interview with Mrs. Flora Deldine, aunt of the girl who resides here.

"Marie was in a delicate condition before her death," Mrs. Deldine told me," said Captain Heath.

"The girl submitted to an operation and at the time named the man who was responsible for her condition."

Attorney R. C. Stokes, representing Lockhart, Tuesday issued the following statement:

"My client is ready to face any charges which may be preferred against him by proper authorities. He stands ready to meet the sensational rumors and to refute the charges which he says are utterly false."

FOREIGN DEBT HAS NO BEARING ON REPARATIONS

allied promises and that the American investors will thus relieve the treasury of its burden.

More Time to Germans
For the moment, the American government is almost a disinterested observer in the reparations negotiations. The meeting in London of the allies has failed to draw the United States into the discussion officially. The decision to give Germany more time to consider an acceptance of the allied proposition meets with approval here because Washington has always had a lingering hope that moral suasion would influence Germany to accept and make physical coercion unnecessary. While the allies are formulating their proposition, the government here is merely biding its time hoping in some way to be of help in solving the tangle but withholding a reply to the recent German proposal until the allies indicate what kind of a reply they want. The American government declines to be in the position of adjudicating the controversy and merely wishes to reflect the allied viewpoint in any counter communication sent to Germany. The news from Berlin that the government there would make no move until a reply came from President Harding or Secretary Hughes has hastened some response from this government but it will be made only after full consultation with the allies.

The determination of the allies to accept the work of the reparations commission as a basis instead of the figures of the supreme council's experts is regarded here as a step forward, a move in conformity with international law. The Versailles treaty provided that the reparations commission should fix the size of the indemnity but the allies have been disposed to fix up their own program without regard to that commission's findings. Now that the reparations commission has spoken the allies revert to the treaty as a basis for their demands and they put Germany in the position of refusing to live up to the treaty she signed if indeed she declines to accept the findings of the reparations commission. They thus demonstrate, too, how absurd would be the transference of the reparations controversy to another international commission when Germany is unwilling to accept the findings of a commission provided for under a treaty bearing her signature.

Of course America was supposed to be represented on the reparations commission and Germany hoped the the experts from the United States would parry down the bill. Technical a full commission has not acted but the absence of the United States does not invalidate the commission's findings.

CAN'T FIND MAN WHO STIRRED UP LAWMAKERS

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison.—Officers have failed to find Frank Boyce, stock salesman for the Marshall Long company of Milwaukee, who created a sensation here last week by making charges against a former legislator for passing the "blue sky law."

Subpoenas were issued for Boyce but he was not located. Boyce was wanted at the hearing of the Jorgenson Manufacturing company case where it was charged stock was sold for $150 per share when the state permit limited sales to $100 per share.

MERCHANT MUST CUT PRICES IF HE WANTS BUSINESS

That is Advice of Paul Findlay in Salesmanship Address Monday Night.

Prices are coming down and the merchant should mark down the price of his wares accordingly, Paul Findlay, retail merchandiser of the California Fruit Growers exchange, told sales people at the vocational school last night.

"It is sound business principle to price merchandise in relation to replacement values," stated Findlay, "and a merchant should accept this principle working both ways."

Talking of complaints made by merchants that mail order houses were cutting in on their business, the speaker said:

"One mail order house has sent its patrons refunds aggregating $5,000, 000 on checks received for goods on which prices have been reduced. What kind of an argument can you give if a person shows one of these checks and you have not reduced your prices to conform to prevailing values?"

Findlay spoke at length on the proper methods of retailing fruit efficiently, particularly oranges and lemons. He explained the difference between margin and profit, saying that margin was the gross the merchant makes on the selling price of his wares, while profit is the amount left after all operating expenses have been deducted.

"Don't figure your margin on the cost of the article, figure it on the selling price," he advised. "Thus, if an article costs $1 and you wish to make a 25 per cent margin, the article should be priced at $1.25 1-4—meaning in practice $1.24 and not at $1.25."

As a rule for computing this price, the speaker gave the following:

"Subtract the margin you wish to make from 100 and divide the cost by the result. In this case you would subtract 25 from 100 and divide it into $1, the result being $1.33 1-3."

He asserted that by following this rule a merchant will always be right, and then gave the following illustration:

"If you buy an article for a dollar, your margin, if sold for $2, is 50 per cent. Half of what you get is margin. You can never make 100 per cent because 100 per cent is always the total of what you get."

Stating that the average cost of conducting a grocery business was 16 2-3 per cent, Findlay said that many articles, between 45 and 50 per cent of the gross sales, do not bring in a margin as large as the cost of operation. These include staples such as sugar, flour and others. On the other 50 or 55 per cent of the articles handled, he said, it is necessary to make the margin correspondingly higher in order to have a paying business.

WARNED TO WATCH FOR ALTERED PAPER MONEY

Banks and business firms have been warned that currency raisers are operating in Wisconsin cities and to scrutinize carefully all $5 and $10 bills before acceptance. Several one dollar bills have been raised to $10 by skillful crooks operating in Fond du Lac. Irregularities in the corners or under the picture usually enable detection.

The common practice is to cut the numbers and words "ten" in circles from $10-dollar bills. After cutting equal sized holes into one dollar bills in the same spots the new figures are pasted into these places. More than the usual scrutiny will show that the changes have been made. The crooks take the mutilated 10-dollar bills to the bank and redeem them for good ones.

MR. MELLON ON TAX REVISION

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has conveyed to Chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee his views on tax revision. Mr. Mellon favors a repeal of the excess profits tax, but he would make good this loss of revenue by means of a modified tax on corporate profits or a flat additional income tax upon corporations, together with repeal of the existing $2,000 exemption applicable to corporations. Mr. Mellon would readjust the income tax so as to provide a maximum combined normal tax and surtax of forty per cent for the year 1921, and about thirty-three per cent thereafter.

Mr. Mellon suggests other taxes to take up the slack in the general reorganization he outlines, including a tax on automobiles, increased stamp taxes and additional internal levies. He would repeal minor "nuisance" taxes, such as those on fountain drinks and the so-called luxuries. The point that will interest the business world in Mr. Mellon's proposals is that he would not remove from corporations the burdens now imposed by the excess profits tax. What he would do is to in effect collect substantially these same taxes from the same source by a different method. There is to be a surtax or a direct corporation tax, and the excess profits tax is to be repealed because of the difficulty of collection rather than because of its economic unsoundness.

Any tax paid by corporations is ultimately paid by the consumer. It makes no difference in what form it is collected, the public in the last analysis foots the bill and not the corporation. That method of taxation which permits the corporation to know with exactness the tax it will be called upon to pay will fall the least heavily upon the ultimate consumer.

Therefore, if the present burden upon corporations is to be continued it would be better if it were to be a fixed burden, definitely determinable at the beginning of the year or if at the end of the year without any relation to profits. Any scheme of taxation on which the amount to be paid depends upon profits, and in which the tax may reach large figures, cannot fail to result in price fixing much beyond what the tax itself justifies.

Mr. Mellon is not prepared at this time to indorse a general sales tax, particularly if "designed to supersede the highly productive special sales taxes now in effect." Mr. Mellon's recommendations may or may not be accepted by congress, although they will naturally have considerable weight because of Mr. Mellon's eminence as a financier and the position he occupies. Some ten or twelve proposals for reorganizing general taxes have been made and as yet there is little agreement upon any definite plan. A few weeks ago sentiment seemed to be tending toward a sales tax, but the objections to this have been urged with such force as to make the outcome doubtful.

A STEP FORWARD

The senate has passed the McCormick bill establishing a national budget system. The house is expected to approve the measure promptly and President Harding's interest in the budget policy is such that his signature making the bill a law is assured. Although the McCormick bill does not go as far as the proponents of the budget idea would have liked, it is a step in the right direction. It represents an evolutionary rather than a revolutionary movement toward better control of the expenditures of the taxpayers' money. Its chief provisions are for a budget bureau to prepare estimates of departmental expenditures, and the creation of the office of controller to audit and account for all governmental expenditures. This official is subject to executive and not congressional removal. In this respect the bill differs from the one passed by the last congress and vetoed by President Wilson on the ground that it gave congress undue authority over an executive official. The administration has accepted the Wilson view.

There was criticism of the McCormick bill by Democratic senators, notably Senator King, but the criticism was obviously partisan. For years agitation for budget reform failed of accomplishment because the friends of the idea refused to accept anything short of what they conceived to be a perfect law. If they had been willing to attain their goal a step at a time they would have been better advised and the taxpaying public would be better off. Imperfect as the new budget law is the administration will be entitled to credit for making good its pre-election pledge. It will be time enough to criticize when the administration refuses to strengthen the law as its weaknesses and inadequacies develop.

THE PEACE RESOLUTION

In the years to come readers of American history will view with amazement and amusement the peace resolution now in process of adoption by congress. What may be accomplished by this extraordinary procedure remains to be seen, although it is not in evidence at this time that any good will come from it. In attempting to repeal the declaration of war congress is attempting the impossible. There is nothing in the declaration of war that can be repealed. The war is an accomplished fact. It has been fought through to the finish. All that could be done under the declaration of war has been done, consequently there is nothing left to be repealed.

Peace can only be made with Germany in only one of two ways. The first is by ratification of the treaty which Germany herself has already signed and ratified. The second is by the negotiation of an entirely new treaty. The peace resolution adopted by congress does not make peace. All that it does is to end, to use the president's words, "a technical state of war." If we are to negotiate a new treaty it would seem that we could do so to better advantage under a technical state of war than under a technical state of peace.

Nobody understands the Knox resolution. Nobody undertakes to say what it accomplishes or what it can accomplish. The only direct effect is that it terminates certain war legislations which might better have been repealed. In the debate Senator Nelson gave attention to the ungenerous attitude assumed in this resolution toward those nations that fought with us to save civilization. It is a piece of legislation without precedent and without any particular purpose thus far revealed. It disregards facts, constitutional procedure and national consistency. It is purely the product of the dilemma into which congress has maneuvered itself in its determination to make political capital out of peace. Since it obligates Germany to nothing, it is difficult to see what is gained by the United States.

THE NEW ALLIED PLAN

The unexpected has happened in the reparations muddle. May 1st seems to have been a sort of lapsed April fool day, and we find, instead of armed occupation of the Ruhr valley, twelve days of grace, accorded Germany in which to make up her mind and give a categorical "yes" or "no" to the allied irreducible minimum which will be definitely presented to her next Friday. Germany will be acquainted with the terms finally acceptable to the allies in an ultimatum which will leave her six days to reach a decision. In the event of her failure to accept the terms provided in the ultimatum, without conditions and without any more evasions or haggling, occupation of the Ruhr valley will commence forthwith.

This will seem to be a sensible and prudent way out of the difficulty. Germany has come sufficiently near to meeting allied demands to warrant at least consideration of what she offers, and undoubtedly this will be given in the drafting of the final demand. Germany will be furnished an explicit bill of particulars of just what is expected of her and the obligations she must fulfill. In view of the long time already spent in a fruitless effort to reach an agreement, the period fixed for final decision must be deemed sufficient. Unless some unforeseen development takes place, which presumably would be through the United States, Germany will know the worst on Friday, and her only real alternative will be to accept what is there demanded and to do it promptly and in good faith.

PRIVATION IN PLENTY

Infants, children and adults frequently suffer from privation in the midst of plenty. The diet may be ample in ordinary calorie or fuel value for the nutrition of the individual according to the best available method of estimating nutritive values, yet fail to furnish an adequate something which is indispensable for perfect nutrition, growth and health. That something has been tentatively termed vitamin, although no one has isolated or chemically identified any particular substance as a vitamin. Physiologists have arrived at a deduction, not a conclusion, that there are at least three groups or types of vitamins: (1) Fat-soluble vitamin, (2) Water-soluble vitamin, (3) Water-soluble B vitamins.

In some parts of the United States cattle cannot be kept in good healthy condition unless the forage is improved by fertilization of the soil. In Victoria cattle raised on certain pasture land develop paralysis and other infirmities which can be prevented or cured by proper soil fertilization. Which reminds us that the problem of human nutrition goes back to the chemistry of the soil from which our food is derived. Within wide margins in vitamin content with varying kinds of feed. Fresh raw milk is generally recognized as an anti-scurbutic food (prevents outright or slight forms of scurvy). Yet milk from cows which were fed for three weeks with the anti-scurbutic factor was found devoid of the anti-scurbutic factor; and Dr. Alfred P. Hess of New York, one of the foremost authorities on the subject, tells us that such facts and animals in winter is whether the milk of stall fed animals in winter is a well-balanced, or whether it is deficient in protein and the woman's food. Every physician knows the harm often done when nursing mothers, influenced by legendary notions, deny themselves this and that valuable fresh vegetable, relish or fruit because some gossip opines it will harm the baby at the breast. In the winter months the lack of fresh vegetables, relishes and fruits among the poorer people in cities probably contributes to the nursing baby undernourished in vitamin content, even though it be adequate as to fat, sugar, protein and mineral content.

Scurvy, rickets, pellagra, beri-beri (a form of multiple neuritis occurring in certain tropical countries), and xerophthalmia or keratomalacia (a dryness and scalliness of the eyes), are by no means the only conditions attributable to a lack of vitamins in the diet. Various degrees of growth and nutrition not so clearly defined and quite commonly unrecognized in their true character must be ascribed to deficiencies of the diet in these accessory factors, regardless of the ample food values as computed in the ordinary way. Among the less definitely recognized conditions which are probably due to vitamin-deprivation are impaired vision or night blindness, certain cases of ordinary neuritis, impaired conditions of the skin, hair, nails, softening and decay of the teeth, some cases of unaccountable loss of appetite and constipation, some cases of anemia, underweight, and so-called "neurasthenia." More on this subject will follow.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Please tell me something that will overcome redness of the nose. My nose "lights up" on the slightest provocation. There is often a little pimple or sore place for a few days. (Miss G. E. S.)

ANSWER—Each night for two weeks mop the nose with some of this mixture and allow to dry on. Zinc sulphate 30 grains
Potassium sulphide 30 grains
Rose water 2 ounces
If the nose is shiny or too oily it is well to mop it first with a bit of benzene or gasoline on a wisp of cotton.

Everybody's Doing It

I have a wart in the center of my forehead the size of a small pea, but I think it is getting larger. Some of my girl friends suggested a corn plaster. Some one else suggested acetic acid. The wart is soft but has a rough, hard ragged top. (Mrs. P. C.)

ANSWER—The clean, safe, painless and satisfactory treatment is usually excision by a physician, which may be followed by some X-ray treatment if there is evidence of malignancy (skin cancer). It is dangerous to apply caustics or other irritants to a wart or similar lesion on the face.

Unionizing the Muses

By Frederic J. Haskin

New York City—New York has long been the great market place and the national clearing house for American art. It is now proposed to make it the great meeting place, the national rallying ground for American artists.

Haskin

Within the next month a new Art Institute, whose purpose is to encourage and promote American artists, is to be established, and a House of Poets, with Edwin Markham as its resident host, is to open its doors. Many other plans of a mysterious and elaborate nature are also being laid toward this end. New ones, indeed, each more complicated and impressive than the last, are hatched every day. Each group of creative artists has its own ideas, often worked out in blue print form, as to how its Muse should be represented in New York. All complain that American art is being checked, handicapped and stifled in its growth by indifference and lack of assistance. Each group believes that it alone knows how to avert this catastrophe.

Sometimes, in the future perfect state, all agree, there is to be a huge national temple of art in New York, with unparalleled departments of painting, sculpture, literature and music, providing the best instruction and facilities in the world. There will be huge, artistic dormitories where native genius will be fed and quartered while it studies and works, a great gymnasium to keep it in physical trim, a psycho-analytic division to solve its many psychic problems and a comfortable pension system for recognized talent.

The future perfect state is far from being realized today, but the thing ought to be done to encourage American artists. It is becoming especially popular among artists themselves. They are beginning to realize that if a great temple of art is ever built in New York it will be through the efforts of artists and not through the efforts of the public. If the writing of poetry ever becomes a remunerative occupation, it will be because the poets have forced it to become so. Thus, the cooperative spirit among creative artists of all classes is gaining great strength and finding expression in hundreds of new art leagues and societies dedicated to the task of smoothing the path of art.

To Help Young Talent

The purpose of the new art institute, for instance, is "to offer help and aid to young artists, unselfish suggestion to doubtful artists and practical aid to needy artists. It expects to take art students and struggling artists from all parts of the country under its wing, applaud their ambitions, listen to their grievances and provide them with wise counsel. It also expects to provide them with art materials at reduced prices, a truly cooperative measure.

"It is my honest belief that many a valuable artistic conception failed to find its canvas or its cardboard setting because the owner lacked money to purchase materials," declares Bolton Brown, the well known landscape painter, who is one of the organizers of the new project.

"Now that American art has come into its own," he said, "demanding and receiving the attention and admiration of European contemporaries and critics, we must encourage it in every way possible. We do not want the unknown artist from Tucson or Spokane coming here to New York to find expression for those vague fantasies which float through creative brains, to have the buds of ambition nipped by the frost of economic starvation. Everyone who feels he has the artistic gift must be given his chance.

"Any number of potential artists are kept in eclipse for the want of a bit of honest advice. They do not know how to buy or how to use their materials once they are acquired. Our consulting board will care for such cases free of charge.

"We will not stop with the completion of a picture or a drawing or a lithograph or an etching. In order that unknown or impecunious artists may have their works brought to the attention of the public, the institute will provide for them suitable care for exhibitions. And it will take care that critics and collectors are informed of the worthiness of such exhibitors."

The institute, however, will not be run for the benefit of the struggling artist alone. Successful artists will also hold their exhibitions there, and will be welcomed to the clubrooms just as cordially as if they were compelled to pawn their watches for brushes or crayons.

"We must organize, you know," explained another artist, who is also interested in the new enterprise. "Artists must learn to look out for themselves the same as the other people in the world. We ought to have a representative or two in Congress. Only way to do is to get together, get better acquainted with each other, make the public appreciate art through telling them more about it. Cooperation—that's what we need. We artists have fought too long, each one alone."

Need an Art Building

"One of our greatest requirements here in New York," he said, "is a decent place in which to hold exhibitions. There really isn't any adequate space at present. We ought to have one whole building devoted to that purpose—a building with main galleries for successive exhibitions and smaller galleries for concurrent lesser shows with freight elevator for receipt and discharge, special passenger shafts, shipping rooms, directors' rooms for all the art leagues and societies here would cooperate in the matter, they could get such a building."

As for the poets, they too seem to be recognizing the need for closer and more militant organization. With their present strength in numbers, they should be able to accomplish much. It is estimated that there are now at least 200,000 poets in America, several of whom have recently risen to fame. Within the past few years poetry societies have sprung up everywhere. At the last dinner of the Poetry Society of New York, 1,000 poets attended, although the cost was six to eight dollars a plate. In view of the low prices paid for poetry, this may be seen to be something of an achievement.

For the writing of poetry, although a popular occupation, is not a remunerative one. Few poets are able to make enough on their poetry to keep alive and many work long and laboriously at less esthetic occupations in order to pay the publishing expenses of their own poems. The new House of Poets does not expect to be able to influence the price paid for poetry, but it expects to provide sympathy, instruction and encouragement to all the great hopes who write it. It will have an extensive library of poetry, for one thing, and it will hold lectures on the technique of great poets.

"Then think what it would mean to amateur poets if they could meet such men as Edwin Markham or Charles Hanson Towne and read their verse and have it criticized kindly but truthfully by these masters of the art," says Robert Minsky, managing editor of the New Success, who is enthusiastic concerning the new house.

"The House of Poets," he declares, "will serve in America, we hope, the same purpose served by the Palace of Song in London. That structure is the home of the Laureate; it also is a clearing-house for young poets from all over England, a place where they may come and get in touch with the latest developments of their art."

Such are the beginnings of the artists-for-artists movement which is some day to build in New York the great temple of art.

She is not a good housekeeper who has her pantry lined with 1915 newspapers and he is not a good merchant who has his shelves lined with 1920 price tickets. Mind you, we are not saying that either exists in Appleton. As a matter of fact you couldn't make us believe that in this spotless town there was anything but what was fine and clean—for we live here—and like it.

The point we make is this: When the merchants you know and can trust, are of their own accord, passing out the new goods at new prices—it does seem loose logic to jump into a motor and waste good gasoline in reaching a point on the map where the natives are behind the times in the value geography.

THE BOOK OF MARTHA

Tragic End of Marion Sprague

As she mentioned the name of Marion's father, Martha turned and stood where she could keep her eyes upon her husband's face.

"Marion—gone?" She repeated distinctly the words which came to her over the phone. "Gone since morning? She took her baby with her? Do you mean to say she has been wandering with that child all day in this awful blizzard?"

With accusing eyes and a face white with scorn, Martha held Evan Palmer's gaze. The man stood like one fascinated by a danger which he could not escape.

"Oh—you've found her, Mr. Sprague? I'm glad—so glad!" Then with a little cry which choked in her throat, a cry which chilled my own heart, and made her son run to her and cling to her skirts, Martha dropped the receiver and it clattered on the table.

Bob rushed to Martha's side and would have listened to the remainder of the message from Marion Sprague's father, but Martha took the receiver from him, pulled herself together very bravely, placed a hand on her child's head to quiet him, and repeated the words that came over the line:

"Dead! Dead! A suicide!" I ran to her and snatched up Lorrie.

"Her child? Marion's child?" I whispered, for instinctively, as any other woman would have done, I guessed what the rest of the tragedy might be.

"Dead! Dead, also!" Martha did not need to tell us any more. By sheer force of her will she kept her voice on an unemotional level and answered the old father:

"You have just found the bodies? And your poor wife has collapsed? Yes, Mr. Sprague, I will come right over myself and take care of her. I will attend to everything!"

Martha hung up the receiver, turned to us and said dully: "You have heard—you have all heard!"

And she did not look at Evan again while they were in our house. I could not see Evan's face for he had picked up Lorrie preparatory to carrying him out to the machine, and had hidden his own features in the shadow of the child's big coat. From the glimpse I caught of him as he reached for the boy, I concluded that he was less moved by the tragedy than Bob appeared to be.

And I asked myself why Martha should continue to live with a man who had been revealed to us all as a scamp.

NO CHANGE HERE IN LABOR SITUATION

There is practically no change in the labor situation in Appleton from conditions on Monday. A survey of the city this morning showed. None of the print shops have been affected and it is believed all the union printers who were working Saturday are still on the job. So far as is known, none of the larger job shops has conceded the 44-hour week principle.

* There will be no change in the building trades situation until after tonight when the master builders of the Fox river valley gather here for a conference. It is likely delegates from the carpenter and mason unions will meet representatives of the contractors for another discussion of the wage controversy.

Reports from around the state indicate no change in the printer strike situation today.

"Circus Posters"

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Is that a man and a lady and a clown?" asked Mrs. Seal when the fairymen and the twins appeared. Mr. Seal looked at though he wished the earth would open and swallow up the visitors, but he put down his pipe and newspaper and said pleasantly, "Yes and no, my dear. This is a young man called a boy, that is a young lady called a girl, but I'm not sure about the other. He has no spots, neither has he a pig, a donkey nor a billy-goat."

"Oh, you can't tell what I have in here," laughed Flippety-Flap pointing to his shoes. "I've been known to carry everything along with me that is likely to be needed, from a hatching of eggs, to a nice spring shower."

Mrs. Seal clapped her flippers in delight. "Oh, I'm so glad you've come!" she cried. "Can you dive and catch fish?" she asked Nancy.

"We're in the advertising business now," explained Flippety-Flap. "I've got to paste posters all over the sides of these icebergs and as I couldn't do it all myself, I brought these helpers along."

"Posters?" cried Mrs. Seal. "Are they pretty? Can you wear them?" "Just wait until you see!" said Flippety-Flap with a sidelong look at Mr. Seal. "They're posters of a circus called, 'The Greatest Show On Earth.'"

"What!" cried Mr. Seal jumping about a yard.

But Flippety-Flap didn't answer him. He was busy taking buckets of paste, long-handled brushes and rolls of paper from his shoes.

"Here you are, kiddies," he cried, handing out things to each of the children. Paste the ring performances on that wall, and the side-shows on that one, and the animal pictures over there. I'll be with you in a minute."

GREEN BAY GIRL STILL IS MISSING

Clews Fail to Lead to Solution of Disappearance of Schneider Girl.

Green Bay—Edward R. Schneider, father of the missing Green Bay high school girl, who has not been seen since Wednesday night when she left a note threatening to end her life, received a telegram Sunday informing him that the girl seen on a North-western train near Milwaukee was not his daughter. The conductor who thought he had identified a photograph appearing in the Milwaukee Sentinel as that of the missing girl, wired Mr. Schneider he had gone back and interviewed the girl only to learn she was not the girl sought.

A report that Miss Schneider also had been seen at Waupun was investigated and Mr. Schneider said, Sunday night, his brother had visited Waupun to satisfy the family, and that Henrietta was not the girl seen there.

Kaukauna's enthusiasts took advantage of the opening of the fishing season Sunday, May 1, and a goodly number of them braved the cold wind and went fishing. The cold weather and high water has made fishing a sport to be talked about rather than indulged in. However, the followers of rod and reel are preparing their tackle and the flocking from every direction to capture the coveted "biggest one in the bunch."

FIND SENTIMENT FOR PASSAGE OF EMPLOYMENT BILL

Changes Are Being Made in Huber Measure to Clarify

Madison—The Huber unemployment insurance bill, before a senate committee is to be supplanted by a substitute amendment now being drafted by Professor John R. Commons of the University of Wisconsin, who was the author of the original bill.

The substitute amendment will amplify some of the details not worked out in the original bill, according to Senator Henry Huber, sponsor for the measure.

"Professor Commons is now working on the substitute amendment," said Senator Huber. "I expect to have it in a few days. The fundamental principles laid down in the original bill will not be altered, but the plan for relieving unemployment in the state will be worked out in greater detail."

The Commons bill delegated all powers relative to administrative detail to the state industrial commission. Employers were left in a state of uncertainty as to the position they would be placed, in case the measure became a law. The substitute amendment is understood to clarify details of administration to remove all uncertainty as to the manner of operation.

When the bill was first introduced little sentiment was found in either house in support of it. The original intention of Senator Huber was to have the bill introduced for the purpose of putting the plan before the people with the hope that it might ultimately pass at some future session.

The industrial depression, throwing thousands of men out of employment, brought quick support from the outside for the bill. The members of both houses have been flooded with petitions bearing thousands upon thousands of signatures asking support for the measure.

Sentiment coldly indifferent at the beginning, has undergone a radical change. Legislators are now prepared to give the matter more than cursory consideration.

Proponents of the bill do not claim it will pass at this session but they say the measure will receive a surprising number of votes, when it is presented for rejection or engrossment in the senate.

The bill advances a new idea in economics. It holds the employer liable for the unemployment of his men. Unemployment insurance is now practiced in several European countries but compensation is paid by the government and is a tax on society. The Commons bill taxes industry rather than society.

GIRL ASKS $2,500 FOR HEART BALM

Northern Farmer Is Named in Complaint Which Cites Alleged Letters.

Merrell, Wis.—A ring, a number of pretty presents and a lot of love letters in which Frieda Meding was called "sweetheart" and other affectionate names by Louis Laffin, form the basis of claims in breach of promise suit in which the girl is asking $2,500.

Frieda claims that Laffin promised to marry her in April, 1919, in the town of Pine River, Lincoln county, and that the marriage was to have taken place in June of that year.

After giving him reasonable time to make good his request, she asked him to marry her on June 4, 1920, and he refused, she alleged. Frieda has remained single and is now ready and willing to marry the defendant, she says.

Laffin is the son of a town of Hewitt farmer. He makes a general denial through his attorneys of the girl's claims.

The case will come up for trial at the May term of Circuit court at Wausau. The complaint is an unusually short one for a breach of promise suit and is contained in about 100 words.

Take It In Time !

Do you know that by far the larger number of the common ailments of women are not surgical ones; that is they are not caused by any serious displacement, tumor, growth, or other marked change?

Do you know that these common ailments produce symptoms that are very much like those caused by the more serious surgical conditions?

Do you know that many women and young girls suffer needlessly from such ailments? More than that, they endanger their health by allowing their ailments to continue and develop into something serious.

If treated early, that is, within a reasonable time after the first warning symptoms appear, serious conditions may often be averted. Therefore, at the first appearance of such symptoms as periodic pains, irregularities, irritability and nervousness, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken. It is prepared with accuracy and cleanliness from medicinal plants. It contains no narcotics nor poisonous drugs, and can be taken with perfect safety.

The Vegetable Compound acts on the conditions which bring about these symptoms in a gentle and efficient manner. The persistent use of it shows itself in the disappearance, one after another, of the disagreeable symptoms. In a word, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound acts as a natural restorative, relieving the present distress and preventing more serious trouble.

REALTY THROG TO BOOST WISCONSIN

Badger Delegation Will Make Things Lively at Chicago National Convention.

Real estate men of Appleton and all parts of Wisconsin expect to make the best showing of any delegation at the convention of the National Association of Real Estate Boards in Chicago July 12 to 16. Plans to accomplish this end were completed at a recent meeting of the executive committee in Madison, at which Daniel P. Steinberg, state president, presided.

T. B. Peterman of Curtis, was appointed chairman of a committee on convention arrangements and already is at work to obtain a delegation of not less than 300 Badger realtors. He was voted ample funds to build up a large attendance, engage a band and carry

Civil War Veterans Considering Plans for Memorial Day Observance.

The ranks of George D. Eggleston Post, G. A. R., which originally had an enrollment of 346 members have been depleted by death until there are only 43 left, the average age of whom is more than 80 years. Those who have passed away since last Memorial day are: William Buchanan, James A. Wolcott, Joseph H. Marston and Henry H. Hurd.

Several members are close to 90 years of age and about the oldest is John Felton, 93, who of late has been in very poor health. Others confined to their homes are Frank Wolf and William Cressy. Members residing elsewhere, but who keep up their dues are L. L. Sandborn, Florida; Frank Leimer, Cloquet, Minn.; and Adolph Lochschmidt, Kimberly, A. E. Davis who has been in the state of Washington for three years and who has just returned to Appleton, is another member who always forwarded his dues promptly. While connected with LaCrosse post, Gottfried Langstadt always meets with the local post and is considered one of its members.

The surviving members of George D. Eggleston post according to a list prepared by Dr. A. W. Kanouse, adjutant and quartermaster, are: John M. Baer, E. J. Bastin, Sam Barnhardt, Francis Bailey, L. A. Briggs, E. F. Brown, Charles F. Brown, A. E. Davis, H. K. Freeman, John Felton, Peter Filatreau, Charles

The civil war veterans have always taken the lead in the observance of Memorial day and will do so again this year. Nothing has been done in this direction as yet, however. Last year about thirty participated in the exercises, but did not attempt to march to the cemetery, automobiles being provided for them. This year the number will be still smaller.

That the civil war was fought by mere boys is shown from the following figures from the adjutant general's office of the war department: Number who served at the age of ten years or under, 25; eleven years, 38; twelve years, 225; thirteen years, 800; fourteen years, 1,533; fifteen years, 104,887; sixteen years, 231,051; seventeen years, 844,891; eighteen years, 1,151,438; twenty-one years, 2,150,793; twenty-two years and over, 618,511; twenty-five years and over, 46,628; forty-four years and over, 16,071.

The total number of survivors of the civil war is 223,000.

SEE IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS HERE

Savings Accounts Are Increasing and Prosperity Is Slowly Returning.

Bankers and business men in Appleton believe conditions are righting themselves gradually and that the present period of depression will fade away within the next few months. There is a commendable note of optimism in most business circles, based on the trend of the times.

People apparently have gotten over the idea of reckless spending and chasing rainbows, one banker says. They are learning to save and are getting over the idea that dollars are hanging on bushes all around them. Savings accounts of working people are reported to be increasing in some banks. These indications preface a return to a more stable basis.

Farmers have adopted an ultra-conservative policy until they know just what conditions are to be next fall. Milk and produce prices are down to a comparatively low level and there is no sign of an immediate increase. The farmers therefore are buying little machinery or equipment, are making no improvements and are spending as little capital as possible until the depression ends. Farm deposits are said to have fallen off 75 per cent in one local bank within the last few months. No loans are asked by farmers unless it is a case of dire necessity.

Some business men believe the hard-pull is just ahead. They think conditions will be no worse than now, with perhaps less unemployment because of a demand for labor in road and construction work and on farms. With the public and business houses it will be a case of "sitting tight," they say, until the pendulum swings back toward prosperity.

RESERVE PLACES FOR C. OF C. DINNER

Salesmen Like Idea of Being Guests at Forum Banquet. White Big Speaker.

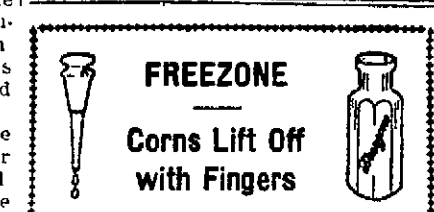

Reservations already are being received by the chamber of commerce for the forum banquet in Northwestern hotel at 630 Friday evening when Frank B. White, vice president of the Arthur M. Crumline company, Chicago, speaks on "Industrial and Community Development." Expectations are that the dining room will be taxed to capacity.

Appleton traveling salesmen are pleased with the idea of the chamber inviting them as its guests. They admit they are boosters for their home city in the Fox river valley, but they never thought the people here paid any attention to that fact. Many are reserving places for the dinner, intent on learning the most effective way to proclaim abroad the advantages of their own community.

Mr. White is considered one of the speakers most capable of telling the salesmen how to go about their boosting. A sales and advertising expert himself, he expects to give many valuable suggestions and a lot of enthusiasm to those who hear him. With one eye on the agricultural possibilities of Outagamie county and the Fox river valley, he will deliver a message that presents new and sound ideas on making a community all it should be.

Other attractive features are to be made part of the banquet program, including musical numbers. Reservations are expected to be in by Thursday noon.

out other plans. The Badger delegation expects to reserve two entire floors at either the Morrison or LaSalle hotels, and to establish a state headquarters in the building. Wisconsin cheese and Wisconsin rye bread, properly labeled, will be distributed as convention souvenirs.

Two Special Trains.
Attendance will be stimulated by special trains. One probably will be started from Eau Claire and run as far as Milwaukee with the western Wisconsin delegates. Another will operate from the Fox river valley. All realtors will assemble in Milwaukee and one or two special trains will take them to Chicago. The realtors aim to advertise Wisconsin as much as possible at the convention.

Milwaukee Real Estate board of more than 200 members was accepted into the association, making the total membership more than 1,000. This board has had membership in the state body under consideration for some time and did not hesitate to join after its members attended the noted convention recently held in Appleton.

Nothing definite was done on purchase of a summer resort in Price county, the Wisconsin veterans of the World war. The matter was discussed thoroughly and the realtors felt that the tract should be bought. They believed it wise to ask the membership for the required amount at this time, because of the depression in every where, preferring to reserve the idea when it had better chances to be consummated.

Laws of interest to the real estate business were discussed, especially the one requiring a tax of 1 per cent additional on all lands valued over $10,000. The realtors intend to oppose this bill.

THREE PASS EXAMS FOR HEALTH NURSE

Regulation Uniforms Are Prescribed for All Public Health Nurses.

Three nurses in this locality have passed successfully the state board of health examinations for accredited public health nurses. They are Miss Mary A. Nigl, Kaukauna; Miss Sarah M. Conner, Neenah; and Miss Marion Skinner, New London.

Miss Nigl qualified for community, school and industrial nursing. She already is serving as Red Cross public health nurse in Kaukauna. Miss Conner qualified for all types of nursing; Miss Skinner for the same work as Miss Nigl.

As a result of state examinations 15 nurses are placed on a new eligible list for county nurse positions. Sixteen counties are on the waiting list for county nurses on account of the law enacted in 1919, making it mandatory for all counties to employ one or more public health nurses by July 1, 1921. Outagamie county already has complied by engaging Miss Red Cross public health nurse.

All public health nurses will be required to wear a regulation uniform while on duty. Two styles were adopted at a recent state conference. One is an English walking suit model, oxford cloth, with tailored white waist, the other a long coat, oxford cloth, to be worn with a plain blue denim dress with white collars and cuffs.

ABSTRACT OFFICE INCREASES FEES

The county board at its November session passed a resolution to repeal the old abstract law which has been in effect for the last 40 years or more which combined the register of deeds' office with the abstract office. The legislature two years ago repealed the law and the first publication was on April 2.

The county board Saturday afternoon passed a resolution to have the abstract office separated from the register of deeds' office and the conduct of the abstract office placed under the general state law. The fees which have heretofore been 20 cents a transfer have been changed to 40 cents a transfer, commencing the first day of the present month. A. G. Koch, register of deeds, was appointed county abstractor.

Who is Swift & Company?

Swift & Company is not a one man or one family affair. It is a company owned by more than 40,000 people scattered over the face of the globe—forty thousand shareholders with voting powers and a share in the risks and profits of the business.

Most of the forty thousand live here in the United States. But some of them live in France, some in England, others in the Philippines, Hawaii, Alaska.

13,000 of them are women.

Nearly 14,000 of them are employees.

The average individual holdings are small—about 37 shares apiece.

No one person or family owns a majority of the stock.

In fact, it would take 900 of the largest shareholders pooled together to vote 51 per cent of the stock!

These shareholders are the men and women whose money, in the form of capital, makes Swift & Company possible.

They are jealous of the character and reputation of their organization, proud of what it is doing, proud to have a part in supplying to the world such products as Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon, Brookfield Sausage, Silverleaf Brand Pure Lard, Wool Soap, Swift & Company's fresh meats, etc.

The executives of Swift & Company maintain the high standards of these products as an imperative duty not only to the 40,000 shareholders, but to the public.

GUERNSEY SALE TO BE BIG FACTOR IN DAIRY PROMOTION

Farmers Will Be Helped to Big-Profit and Valley Will Be Advertised.

Nothing ever has been attempted in this locality that will advance its dairying interests as will the first annual consignment sale of the Fox River Valley Guernsey Breeders' association next Friday at the Outagamie Equity Exchange grounds. Purebreds will be placed on more farms and the fame of the valley as a Guernsey center will be spread to many parts of the country.

Arrangements are being completed rapidly for the sale. The cabbage warehouse of the exchange already has been equipped to house the sale animals until the auction starts. The opening hour is to be 12:30 prompt. A large pavilion tent has been provided where there will be seating and sale facilities. J. R. Love and R. Benjamin, Waukesha, two of the best known auctioneers in the middle west will be in charge, and Charles Hill, Rosendale, noted breeder, will act as pedagogue.

A sale of this kind will put purebred Guernseys on many farms in the county where only the poor grade of cattle was kept before. With this as the primary aim, the association also will benefit by the advertising it receives in Wisconsin and the middle west. It will establish the Fox River valley as a Guernsey center. Knowing that there is a surplus of purebreds here, buyers for new farms opening up in northern Wisconsin will stop here instead of going to Fond du Lac, Waukesha and other centers. Large national buyers also will be attracted to this Guernsey region.

Very few sales are conducted where so many animals with advanced registry records are offered. Eight have good A. R. records and 18 have first dams with A. R. records of fat production in a year of 626 pounds.

NEW OIL COMPANY OPENS HERE TODAY

Appleton's newest business enterprise—the DeBauer Oil Co.—was ready for business Tuesday. Three large oil storage tanks have been erected at 400 Outagamie-st. and the new firm soon will have tank wagons and trucks delivering gasoline, kerosene, lubricating oil and grease.

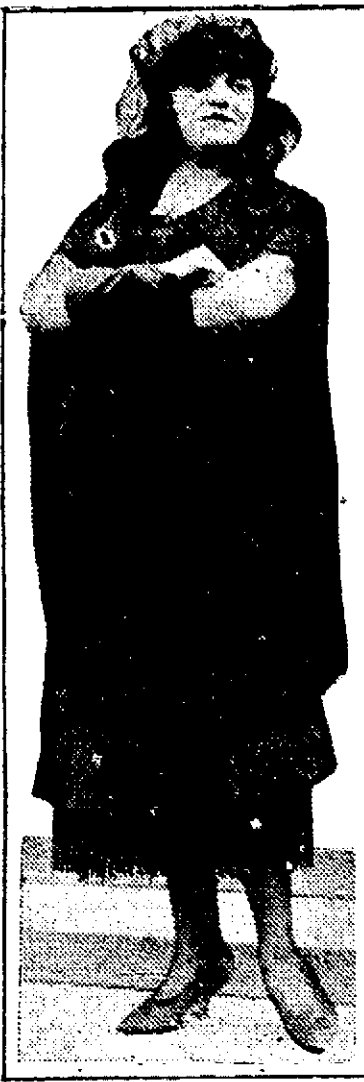

H. A. DeBauer, manager of the Appleton branch of Wadham Oil Co. for 12 years and district manager for the company with headquarters in Milwaukee for 18 months, is the organizer of the new company and will be in charge. Associated with him are Charles H. Brown and James E. DeBauer, both of Milwaukee.

Mr. DeBauer and his family will move to Appleton soon and will make their home at Lake Winnebago until residence quarters are found in the city.

Begin Pouring Concrete. The Wilson-Johnson Construction Co., which has the contract for paving the Bear Creek-New London road, started pouring concrete Saturday. The company expects to have the pavement completed by the end of the month. The contract calls for two miles of concrete.

ASK SHARE IN BIG ESTATE OF WIDOW

Three Appleton people, Carlos and Jesse Coburn and Minnie C. Mills, have laid claim to the $36,000 estate of the late Mrs. Edith VanHouten, who was found dead in her home in Stevens Point March 1. They are decedent's half brothers and sister. It is claimed, and therefore are her next of kin and heirs-at-law.

Petitions of the Appleton people have been presented to County Judge W. F. Owen, Stevens Point, to deny probate of Mrs. VanHouten's will executed Nov. 9, 1909. Under its terms the decedent's personal estate is left to "Horace E. Hoyt, his heirs and assigns." The Appleton claimants contend that the death of Horace E. Hoyt prior to the death of Mrs. VanHouten revoked the will, which has been filed for probate by Mrs. Mabel E. Hoyt, widow of Horace E. Hoyt.

Another Appleton Lady Grateful for Kozak

"I have gained several pounds in weight and feel better today than I have in the past three years," said Mrs. Peter Pohlmann, 1087 Elsie-st., Appleton last week.

"I had suffered for years with indigestion, dyspepsia and stomach trouble. Pains in my back and spine kept me from sleeping good. My nerves were in bad shape. After every meal gas would form and force me to belch and feel bloated. I got very weak and could hardly do my household work.

"Then I read about Kozak and got some. By the time I had finished my second bottle those irritating pains had gone, my strength was restored and my nerves calmed down until I am now able to sleep good. Three Cents Will Sustain Starving Chinaman For Day

Appleton People Asked to Help Save Millions of Chinese From Starvation.

(An especial effort is being made this week by several Appleton organizations to aid about 5,000,000 Chinese who are facing starvation because of drouth in their homeland. Chinese life saving stamps are being sold to raise money with which to buy food for the sufferers. The Chinese appeal is vividly portrayed in this article by Prof. F. M. Ingler of Lawrence college who shows that one cigar, will sustain a starving Chinaman for three days.)

PROF. F. M. INGLER

Great calamities and mighty catastrophes overwhelm sections of the earth at unforeseen times. They may come in the form of a Johnstown or Dayton flood, or in the form of a San Francisco earthquake as before. San Francisco a few years ago. They may be brought about by the cyclones of the south or by the bell of war in Europe. They may take the form of a great famine as is now existing in northern China. Whatever may be the misfortune, the generous hearts of Americans respond.

This great famine in China was brought about by a severe drought, no rain for fourteen months. Crops could not grow. The climate is unusually dry, there being a rainfall of 25 inches each year. The rainfall is about equal to that of southwest Texas where dry farming is practiced.

The area of the territory is equal to that of the five states made out of our Northwest Territory—Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin—and Iowa and Minnesota added. In this territory there is a population of 103,000,000, approximately that of the United States. Of this population there were about 45,000,000 on the famine list, but on account of death and disease already given, this number has been reduced to only five million. It is this remaining 5,000,000 that need a helping hand now.

Contributions, in the form of money, are the only life saving remedy. Rice, the food most used by Chinese can be had nearer China, in fact, in some of the adjoining provinces. A bowl of rice will suffice for one individual for a whole day. It costs three cents. One dollar will sustain one individual for one month. Five dollars will save a family until the new crop is harvested the latter part of June. This week, from May 1 to May 8, is China Famine Week in the United States. Everybody will be privileged to give to this life saving fund. China is not begging. She will starve first. Appleton is asked to share her part in saving to the world some hungry folks. Appleton has always responded to hunger calls. To Appletonians the saving of a life in China is not an expensive proposition. A cigarette, a stick of candy, a touch of perfume or powder, is equivalent in value to a meal, an American dinner to a Chinese fare for a month.

A Chinese lives so cheaply that every Appletonian can afford to support one through this crisis without a burden to himself, and if these people are to be saved it is necessary for every man, woman and child in Appleton to assume the responsibility for at least one life. We can shut our eyes to the dying call, but if we neglect it, we shall always hear the feeble voice.

BUS LINE OWNERS FORM STATE ORGANIZATION

A. C. Roman, Menasha, has been elected president of a state organization of motor bus owners, formed for the purpose of combating laws which would prohibit busses from carrying passengers outside of a city. Mr. Roman is head of the A. C. Roman Auto company, owners of the Appleton-Menasha bus line. Harvey Graupman, New London, has been made acting treasurer of the new state body.

Owners of bonded carrier conveyances met in Milwaukee to discuss their problems and decided to form a permanent organization. J. Elmer Lehr, Milwaukee, has been engaged as general counsel and will take steps to sidetrack legislation proposed by steam and street railways regarded as detrimental to their interests.

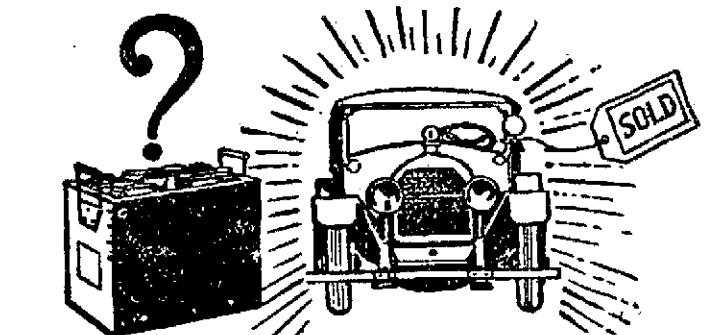

EPSOM SALTS

LIKE LEMONADE

You can now buy real epsom salts without the awful taste and nausea, by asking your druggist for a handy package of "Epsomade Salts" which looks and acts exactly like epsom salts, because it is pure epsom salts, combined with fruit derivative salts, giving it the taste of sparkling lemonade.

Take a spoonful in a glass of cold water whenever you feel bilious, head-achy, or constipated. "Epsomade Salts" is the much talked of discovery of the American Epsom Association. adv.

BELIEVES AUTO PARKING METHODS INVITE DANGER

Autoists believe it is a mistake to allow cars to be parked on some of the narrow side streets at an angle the same as on College-ave. One driver says he has had several near collisions because machines are parked this way on Lawrence-st., making the passage so narrow two machines can hardly pass, and also completely shutting off the view of a heavy traffic corner.

"There are places where no machines should be placed at all, and others where the manner of parking should be regulated according to the amount of traffic," said the driver. "We are having many accidents for this and other reasons, and life and limb is worth more than the unwillingness of drivers to inconvenience themselves."

RURAL TEACHERS GET ANNUAL REPORT BLANKS

Annual report blanks have been sent out from the office of A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, to the rural school teachers of the county. The blanks have to be filled out and returned to the superintendent at the close of the school year.

These blanks go to 131 schools in the county. They contain detailed information as to attendance, work accomplished and a personal record of the person in charge of the school. Figures on these reports are tabulated in one large report and sent to the state department at Madison.

Mrs. Emil Smejkal and son Adrian and sister, Mrs. Ben Finger of Rhineland, returned from a several days visit at Wabeno Monday.

Thousands of Weak Nervous People Have Been "Fooled"

They Took the Wrong Kind of Iron. Are YOU One of Them? How to Tell.

I was talking to a young lady who was very nervous, irritable and rundown—she also suffered from shortness of breath, heart palpitation and indigestion—her doctor told her she was anemic—suffering from IRON STARVATION OF THE BLOOD and advised her to take iron.

She told me she tried NUXATED IRON and had not received much benefit—I said ARE YOU SURE it was NUXATED IRON—She said yes, that it was a small, smooth coated black tablet—I said YOU ARE WRONG—Nuxated Iron is a brown uncoated tablet with the letters N. I. stamped on every tablet—therefore you didn't take Nuxated Iron.

I said Nuxated Iron contains ORGANIC IRON like the iron in YOUR BLOOD and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, which is an entirely different thing from metallic iron which people usually take and which is made merely from the action of strong acids on small pieces of iron. Nuxated Iron is so prepared that it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach—you can even eat it if you wish.

NUXATED IRON also contains a product which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force—FEEDING THE NERVES, so that it might be said to be both a BLOOD and a NERVE FOOD. This remarkable nerve force product was brought to the attention of the French Academy of Medicine by the celebrated Dr. Robin. It not only helps revitalize worn-out exhausted nerves, but it undoubtedly increases the efficiency of the iron itself.

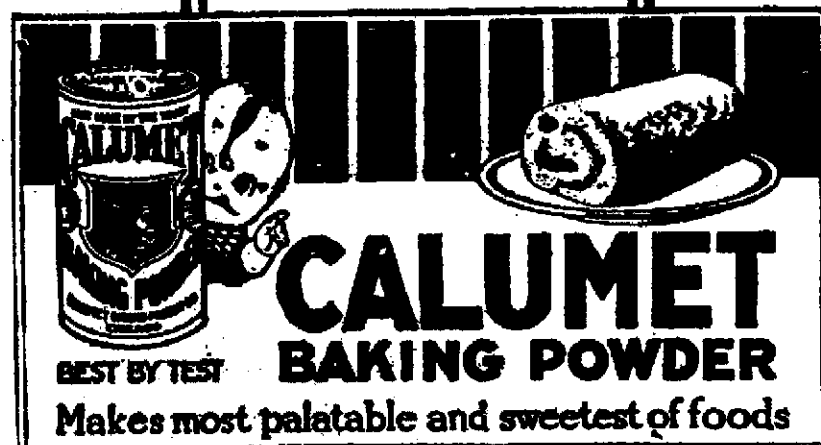

Nuxated Iron also contains powdered nux, an extremely valuable product for toning up the stomach and stimulating digestion, thereby increasing metabolism—the power of the human body to transform food into blood, living cells and tissues—Without this power nothing you eat does you any good—you do not get the full strength out of it.

The Courts of Justice have done what they could on cases brought before them to protect the public from fraudulent imitations of Nuxated Iron—One Nuxated Iron tablet was ordered to pay $1,000.00 damages by a United States Court and forever to cease using the words "Nux and Iron" to deceive the public—Another was caught in Tennessee and given a heavy fine for

$65,000 IS MADE AVAILABLE FOR IMPROVING ROADS

County Board Disposes of Important Matters at Its Closing Session.

The closing session of the county board at the courthouse Saturday was especially busy. Beside disposing of charges brought against two of the county officials by the American Legion it passed a resolution appropriating $65,000 for the improvement of highways which includes an appropriation of $24,000 for paving the Brickyard road. There was some question whether the appropriation could go into the taxroll as provided by the resolution. District Attorney Fred V. Heinemann has written to the attorney general for an opinion.

There is a possibility of the county doing its own printing in the future. Preliminary steps were taken in this direction by Supervisor Culbertson of Greenville, who moved that the committee on printing, Supervisors Mack, Bayer and Jensen, be instructed to investigate the advisability of the county doing its own printing. All county officers in need of printing were instructed to make requisition to the county clerk.

An appropriation of $5,000 was made for a concrete entrance to the county insane asylum. The improvement was ordered at this time because the work of paving the asylum road is in progress.

A resolution expressing sympathy for Supervisor Doerder, who was called home by the death of a child was passed by a rising vote. Reports of the various committees were adopted.

CITY IS VISITED BY WAVE OF CRIME

Police Report Shows Month of April Was Busy, With Theft Cases Leading.

Stealing or attempted stealing increased in Appleton during April. With ten arrests for such offenses, according to the monthly report of George T. Prim, chief of police, this city experienced a miniature "crime wave".

There also was a definite campaign toward curbing the speed mania of automobile drivers. Six were caught exceeding the limit within the city limits. Other offenses were committed of various kinds, making 23 arrests for the month.

Black Maria had no chance to let her engine become rusty. The trusty car answered 140 calls during April, an average of nearly five a day. She traveled an average of more than 26 miles a day, especially in pursuit of missing automobiles, recording 794 miles on her speedometer. Two calls were answered by the ambulance.

Detailed cases in the report were: Vagrancy 1 Running auto without license 1 Interfering with officer 1 Drunk 3 Larceny 4 Speeders 6 Burglary 5 Embezzlement 1 Violating Prohibition act 1

THE STAGE

William Owen.
A Shakespearian revival in which there is keen interest, is that of the Burdick-Larsen productions which now have under their direction the tour of William Owen, the distinguished scholar, teacher and actor, who has been lured back to the stage by an insistent call from the larger centers of learning. Realizing the paucity of plays of serious purpose and intent, Mr. Owen has resigned the chair of dramatic art of the Centralizing school of Chicago and will devote his time and his talents to the return of the classic drama to the modern stage.

The eminent player and his company will be heard at Appleton theater on Wednesday, May 4, where the performance will be as near perfect as care and research, as well as great acting ability, can make them. Mr. Owen is a student and a teacher as well as an actor. He has made Shakespeare and his plays, a life study. He knows the traditions and every aspect of the drama. This means that the people of Appleton will be offered a rare treat in the presence of this actor and his company here. The Burdick-Larsen productions, under whose direction the actor is appearing, will spare no pains or means to provide adequate productions.

"NOW FOR THE PACIFIC," U. S. NAVY SAYS

The U. S. navy, first to fly the Atlantic, intends to be first to fly the Pacific. Below is the N. C. 4 which first flew the Atlantic and above is the Gallaudet plane—the type which will make the Pacific flight late this fall or early next spring. Inset map shows the route to Manila, 6,200 miles. The landing spot on the Asiatic mainland has not been selected. Construction has been going on secretly for a year on the giant which will start across the Pacific. It will be just like the Gallaudet above—torpedo noses and concealed engines—except that it will be three times as big. It will have three nacelles—three "noses"—three propellers and three Liberty motors to each propeller. The arrow indicates the greatest novelty of the new plane —the location of the propeller, which reduces wind friction to a minimum. The trial one-propeller Gallaudet above recently made 132.3 miles an hour. The giant is expected to make 110 miles an hour carrying a crew of 12 men.

OLDEST POLICEMAN IN STATE CALLED BY DEATH

Birchwood, Wis.—Jacob Rice, 91 years old, Rice Lake, the oldest policeman in Wisconsin and a veteran of the civil war, died at his home at Rice Lake of gangrene of the foot. He had been active as a policeman for many years.

Mr. Rice enlisted in Company A, Eighty-first Pennsylvania infantry, and fought through the entire civil war. He was wounded twice, losing the fingers on one hand and receiving a ball through the hip which partially disabled him during his later years. On being discharged from the hospital, he was unable to locate his original company so he joined another company near at hand and was at the front until the close of the war.

His change from one company to another caused a mistake in his record and he never received a pension.

NOT CRIPPLED

To correct numerous false reports we state that MEYER PRESS is not crippled by labor difficulties. Presses and bindery are running as usual and the composing room force is being replaced from a long list of applicants, on the OPEN SHOP plan.

Our records show that we have turned out more work, with a smaller force, during the ten days since compositors struck, than during the two weeks preceding.

At no time have we been compelled to suspend operations by the strike. Our publications and jobs have all come out on time and even rush jobs have been delivered at record speed.

At noon, April 21st, the compositors were called on strike, ostensibly because we had temporarily placed a non-union girl at the Monotype keyboard. The union operator was taken from her job and told to do stenographic work because she had deliberately changed copy of an editorial she had been given to set up.

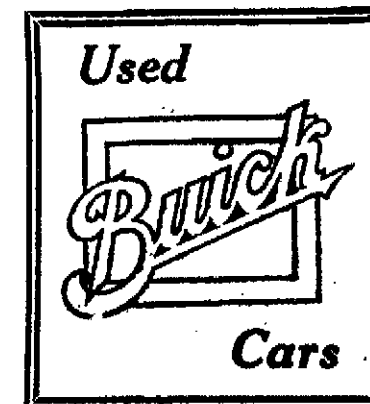

The management of a newspaper is at all times responsible for its contents and cannot submit to such censorship on the part of its employees whether they are members of a union or not.

This action precipitated the strike planned for May 1st, to enforce the 44 hour week. Incidentally the local union had presented a new scale calling for an increase of $10 per week in the minimum wage.

CHICAGO UNION GIANTS PLAY HERE NEXT SUNDAY

NEGRO TEAM TO HELP PUT LOCAL SQUAD IN SHAPE

Valley League Nine Shows Excellent Fielding Ability. Has Many Sluggers.

Appleton baseball fans will have one more opportunity of seeing their team in action before the opening of the league season when the Chicago Union Giants, a Negro team, come here next Sunday. This is the same team which gave the Brantzes a hard battle at the close of last season. Manager Spius will send practically the same team into the game as last Sunday except that Joe Woods, a Wausau product, will play on third base. Woods came to Appleton last Sunday ready to play but was suddenly called home because of illness in his family.

The Union Giants got an early start this year and are playing two or three times a week. This team is considered one of the strongest in Chicago and can give many of the major league teams a battle for their money. Appleton showed considerable fielding ability last Sunday in spite of the cold weather. It was hard to determine the team's hitting ability because the batting eyes are not yet in good shape and also because the team was batting against professional pitchers, who must necessarily be better than most semi-pros in order to hold their jobs.

Fans generally were quite well pleased with the team's showing and if it comes through next Sunday's game in good style local boosters will have every reason to believe they will have a pennant winner here.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

If comparative scores mean anything, Brantze's baseball team compares mightily favorably with the Lake shore league aggregation. Last Saturday Winnipeg, challenged the Green Bay team of the following day Appleton held the northerners to a 1 to 0 count. Green Bay has an all-home product team this year and Manager Bobby Lynch expects to be in the pennant chase with the aggregation. Appleton fans have a right to feel proud of the showing of their team.

George Kelly and Babe Ruth, hard hitting New York sluggers are staging a peach of a race for premier hitting honors. Kelly has a slight edge thus far with seven four base clouts to his credit while Babe boasts six. Kelly, however, is winning games with his bat while Babe's hitting usually is wasted either because his team is so far behind or because his teammates are unable to withstand a new attack by the opponents. Yesterday's game with Boston was a case in point.

Professional football managers made a step in the right direction when they organized an association which will tend to better the game so far as the "gold digging" pickin' chasers are concerned. Their move to leave school is apt to soothe the feelings of the educational authorities and not make them so hard on the Sunday footballers. There is no reason why professional football can't be placed on just as firm a foundation as organized baseball.

Still water runs deep. Brooklyn wasn't given much consideration among the baseball dopesters this spring and Uncle Wilbert Robinson was content to let well enough alone and not too his own horn. However he did predict that if his pitching staff got going right the Robins would be mighty hard to stop. Evidently, Manager Robby had the right dope. His hurlers are traveling in right dog along in a nice winning streak right on the heels of the league leading Pirates. If Robby continues to rub elbows with Dame Fortune, the Dodgers may once more bring home the rag to Ebbetsville.

The Darned Sox have a youngster playing in the outfield who is beating down the line with due regularity. Bib Falk, the Texas collegian, is hitting on all four these days and his old bat is a pretty prominent link in the Gleasonites method of attack. Falk hits 'em a mile when he connects and he is blessed with the knack of "getting on." If Chicago can dig up a few more ball players like this product of the Lone Star state, the Windy City fans will soon forget all about Weaver, Cicotte, Jackson, Flesch, Gandil, and a few of the other candidates for Leavenworth's ball nine.

$30,000 PROFIT FOR TEX IN LAST BATTLE

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—Tex Rickard cleared over $30,000 his all star boxing show that closed Madison Square Garden Monday night for the season. Receipts amounted to $74,000. Andy Chaney and Sammy Selig got $7,500 for twelve rounds which Chaney won.

Johnny Buff, American flyweight champion, got $2,250 for winning and Eddie O'Dowd $7,500 for losing his bout. Jack Sharkey and Midget Smith got $5,000 in the event that Sharkey won and Eddie O'Hare got $1,500 for giving Johnny Howard a $1,250 beating.

What will be the largest cathedral in England is being built in Liverpool.

Score Fights By Rounds

Cleveland—Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion of the world, advocates the idea that boxing bouts should be scored round by round.

"Let the ringsiders and the boxers know who is winning as the fight goes along," says Kilbane. "They'll enjoy boxing a lot more if they know how the fight is going, and the benefits would be mutual to both fans and fighters."

"If the referee announced at the end of each round which fighter won it fans could mark it down on their score cards. When the fight was over they could add up the rounds each man won and they'd have the decision."

"Scoring fights round by round would help eliminate poor or crooked refereeing, too."

"A lot of fighters go along easily, being outpointed during the early rounds of a fight and then speed up the last few rounds to make an impressive grandstand finish."

"A referee, who doesn't know his business, will give the whirlwind finisher the decision in many cases when he didn't win the majority of the rounds."

"If the fighters knew at the end of each round which had won it they'd fight more and still less."

"Fans should leave a boxing arena satisfied as to who won. There isn't any doubt in the minds of baseball fans as to who won when they leave the park. And that's what makes baseball one of the squarest games."

"Boxing will thrive on honesty and score cards just the same as baseball."

any doubt in the minds of baseball fans as to who won when they leave the park. And that's what makes baseball one of the squarest games.

Monday's hero—Joe Billings. The Browns' catcher singled in the 13th inning and drove over the run that beat the Tigers, 7 to 6.

Pratt's double and a single by Hendrix beat the Yanks, 2 to 1, after Ruth had tied the score in the ninth with his sixth homer.

Long George Kelly poled out his seventh homer and a double helping the Giants to beat the Braves, 8 to 1.

Brooklyn made only five hits but three of them came in the ninth inning and the Phils were beaten, 4 to 3. It was the eleventh straight for Brooklyn.

Joey Dugan's home run and Perry's fine punting helped the Athletics beat Washington, 6 to 1.

Martin's wildness and timely hitting by the Pirates cost the Cubs a game at 4 to 3.

MOSS COVERED RULE IS REVIVED IN GAME

New York—A moss grown rule was pulled out of the books by Umpires McCormick and Hart in Monday's game between the Giants and Braves.

Burns hit a grounder to short that Barbara booted, the ball rolling a few feet into left field. Barbara in disgust threw his glove and hit the ball. Under an old rule this gave the batter three bases. The decision of the umpires scored Burns from first and gave Burns a triple on what should have been an easy out.

He Looked Easy But How He Could Soak That Ball!

One-armed Pitcher Didn't Need Any Consideration While He Was Batting.

By Fred Bushey

Away back in the early history of base ball in Appleton, Lawrence college, then Lawrence university, justly boasted of one of the best university teams in the state, and base ball was then considered a major sport in the "Little Five" conference. The games at that time were played in the vacant block north of the city park, now one of Appleton's most beautiful residential districts. These grounds were also used for various other purposes, and on one occasion, when Lawrence had arranged a practice game with the Kaukauna high school for a Saturday afternoon early in the season, they found upon reaching the field that Seibel Bros. dog and pony show had pitched its tents on the base ball diamond. A heated discussion followed, but the matter was amicably settled by the show management giving free admission tickets to members of both teams.

The following week Lawrence opened its home season with Northwestern of Watertown as its opponent. I still have a vivid recollection of some of the incidents of that game as I called the balls and strikes from a safe position behind the pitcher's box. College games at that time were tame enough so that an umpire didn't really need accident insurance. But getting back to the story—Watertown had a one-armed pitcher, who came third in their batting order. The first two men up for the visitors were easy outs; then came the pitcher. Frank Schneller, captain and catcher for Lawrence felt a certain sympathy for the unfortunate player, and motioned for his pitcher to come in for a conference. It afterwards developed that Schneller instructed the pitcher not to try to strike the batter out, but on account of his condition to give him a chance to hit it. According to instructions a slow one was put over. The one-armed pitcher said afterwards that he could count the stitches on the ball when he saw it coming. At any rate he hit it so hard that a lady living on the west side of Bateman-st. was fortunate in not being near one of the windows of her house when the ball came through with a crash. That hit would have been a home run even if the lady had not refused to give up the ball until she had received payment for the broken window. It then dawned upon the Lawrence captain why the Northwestern pitcher came third on the batting list, instead of at the bottom as is customary. His next time at bat came in the fourth inning, but this time the Lawrence pitcher showed no mercy, and after two wide ones which Schneller pulled over the plate in an effort to make them good, had been called balls, the Lawrence pitcher made the fatal mistake of grooving a fast, straight one. Opinions differ as to what became of that ball. Some maintain that it is still going. The last seen of it was when it disappeared behind a house on Union-st., and at that time it was going fast. As the batter, with one empty sleeve, jogged toward first place he grinned at the Lawrence pitcher and said: "You'd better get a motorcycle if you're going after that one." These two home runs were the visitors only scores and with a batting rally in the seventh, coupled with two or three errors behind the hard-hitting Watertown pitcher, Lawrence put over three runs, enough to win the game.

In another freak game—but that's another story.

Walter Johnson's smoke and Babe Ruth swing make a home-run combination in any park.

Tex Rickard has invited the Prince of Wales to his July 2 house party. And the prince may take him up.

The "Rice" market has gone up since Sam went on a rampage with the Washington club and started to hit homers.

The first week of July is chuck full of historic dates. July 1 the country went dry. July 2 Tex Rickard goes to bat with the Million Dollar fight and July 4's on deck.

KELLY POLES OUT SEVENTH HOME RUN

Hitting Star Helps Giants Win Easy Victory Over Boston Braves.

New York—The monthly Nationals made it three straight from Boston here on Monday, winning another easy victory, 8 to 1. The Giants knocked out four runs off Watson in the first inning, bunching a base on balls with two triples and a home run by George Kelly—his seventh this season. Score: Boston.....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0—1 New York.....4 2 1 0 0 0 1 0 *—8 Batteries: Boston—Watson, Scott, Cooney and O'Neil and Gibson; New York—Barnes and Smith and Gaston.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—"That boy George Kelly sure can sock."

Take the word of Mike Donlin for it. Also take his record of seven home runs in fifteen games as evidence.

Donlin, the old idol of the Polo grounds who now "fields" behind the footlights, saw the sky scraper first baseman of the Giants pole his "seven" Monday high up into the left field bleachers.

Kelly hits 'em further than Ruth and he's getting just as hard to fool.

"He's a sucker for a fast ball. They all had his number last year. Wait until the pitchers get in mid-season form and watch him wilt," said a brother actor.

Watson's first delivery to the new home run king was a fast one up around the shoulders.

Kelly slammed it almost over the left field fence.

"Yes, he's a mark for a fast ball," came back Donlin.

"Well he can't hit a curve ball, we all know that," the other retorted.

Mr. Scott was pitching then and he broke out with a wide grin when he made Kelly swing foolishly twice at a low curve ball his second time at the bat.

He fed another curve and Kelly smashed it clear to the center field fence but they were laying back for him and it was only good for a double.

"I guess he's a bum on a curve ball too"—from Donlin.

The battle between Kelly and Babe Ruth for home run honors not only has New York by the ears but is easily the sensation of the young season.

Konetchy then tripled, sending Wheat over with the winning run. Score: Philadelphia.....0 0 0 1 0 2 0 0—2 Philadelphia.....0 0 0 1 2 1 0 *—6 Batteries: Philadelphia—Hubbell and Brugg; Brooklyn—Cadore, Mijus, Mitchell and Miller.

SENATORS 1; MACKS, 6
Philadelphia—Philadelphia made it two straight from Washington by winning on Monday, 6 to 1. Perry was in good form, his only lapse coming in the sixth, when he walked Judge and Milan and permitted a single by Rice. Dugan's home run and doubles by Dykes and Witt featured the local onslaught on Erickson. Score: Washington.....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0—1 Philadelphia.....0 0 0 1 2 1 0 *—6 Batteries: Washington—Erickson, Courtney and Gharriy; Philadelphia—Perry and Perkins.

All the students of Lawrence college are to assemble at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening on and around the steps and porch of old Main hall armed with any kind of a musical instrument from a Jew's harp to a hand organ to partake in the first "all college sing" in many a moon. The popular old tradition is to be revived and re-established and the Tuesday evening "sing" is to become a permanent feature of the school calendar. Miss Vera Chamberlain will lead the "sing".

The custom is being revived through the influence of Tau Tau Kappa fraternity, and it is to be one of the big features of the May day celebration. Mandolins, banjos, guitars, ukeleles and other stringed instruments will accompany the songs.

MONTE CARLO HAD NOTHING ON MEET OF WAR VETERANS

"Money" Changes Hands Rapidly at Entertainment for Legion Members.

Ninety thousand dollars changed hands at the meeting of Once Johnston post of the American Legion Monday evening in Elk hall where all the veterans spent a "night in Monte Carlo." For turns came and went as the roulette wheel spun, and the books were experiencing some quick changes as veterans played "African golf" on the floor. About 400 men took part in the fun.

Peter Goert, teller at the First National bank, had the money under guard all day and brought the vast sum to the hall in the evening. The pile rapidly diminished as the games of chance went on. Walter Schultz emerged the richest, with $25,000 in his possession, won because of his superior ability as a crap shooter. R. L. Main found fortune smiling upon him, carrying $17,000 away, won at the roulette wheel.

Members said they never had a better time at a meeting of the post. The excitement was tense, as the men gave way to their gambling spirit. Groups were down on their knees all over the floor, some with their coats off, rolling the bones. There was always a throng around the roulette wheel. Nobody was the worse off after the event was over, because the currency used was all stage money printed for the occasion by a thermos bottle.

Mr. Schultz won a thermos bottle as a prize for accumulating the largest amount of "wealth." Mr. Main received an alarm clock as second honors and Frank Koch a flashlight for third place. Edmund Rossmelss was presented with a can of "corn booya" for taking sixth place.

Peaved at Cop

Some genuine excitement was caused during the serenity of the business period when a fake attempt at arrest was staged through an arrangement with Detective John Duvall. The officer announced his presence and said he was searching for a man who stole a package from a girl at the depot. The man wore a Legion button, so must be in the meeting. Duvall said. Told to wait until the business period was over, Duvall waited outside a few minutes, made some threats and finally tore into the meeting, upset the program and made a search. One or two of the members became real irate over the intrusion, saying some things that would not look good in print, and there were threats to eject the detective. Suspicion was directed toward one man, but a package placed in his possession contained a drum. Only a few men were "peaved" beforehand and when the hoax was discovered there was a round of laughter for five minutes.

Reports were presented by the executive committee on the results of the county board hearing concerning Herman J. Kamps, county clerk, and Louis A. Peterson, county treasurer. Arrangements were made to have the stenographic report of the proceedings printed and a copy supplied to each member.

The executive committee was empowered to proceed with the purchase of a lot lying partly in Riverside and St. Joseph cemeteries to be used for burial of soldier bodies. Lothar G. Graef, chairman of the executive committee, explained the need and the plans. A monument is to be erected later on the line between the two cemeteries.

Seven World war veterans are confined in the hospital, according to a report submitted by George Merkel, chairman of the welfare committee. These men are visited by comrades and are supplied with smokes, fruit and other comforts.

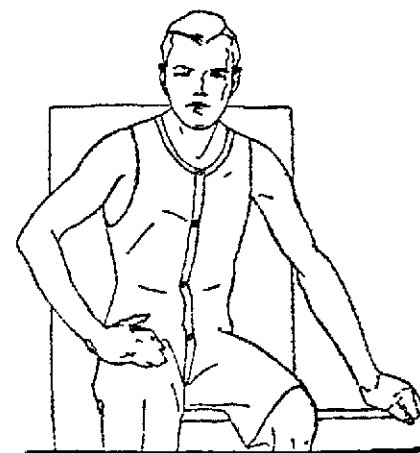

Thanks was expressed to the post by the family of the late Raymond Weiss, for the assistance given and the honor paid the fallen hero at his recent burial in Hortonville. A report was made by the Womens Auxiliary of the post on the recent membership campaign, and appreciation was expressed for the assistance given in building up the membership total. Several new members were received, and transfers of veterans
